

Identity, Language, & Mind

An Introduction to the Philosophy of John Perry

edited by
Albert Newen and Raphael van Riel

Albert Newen is professor of philosophy (Institut für Philosophie II) at the Ruhr-Universität Bochum.

Raphael van Riel is lecturer at the Institut für Philosophie II, Ruhr-Universität Bochum.

The essays in this volume introduce John Perry's distinguished work on subjects as diverse as indexicality, semantics, personal identity, self-knowledge, and consciousness. Perry's great body of work centers around the question: What is constitutive for having and expressing a thought about oneself and how can self-conscious beliefs be part of a world that is basically physical in nature?

Identity, Language, & Mind is not only an introduction to the work of John Perry, but also to questions at the core of analytic philosophy for almost half a century, and that still dominate the debate at the forefront of the philosophical enterprise.

Contents

1 Speaking And Thinking About Oneself With the Work of John Perry: An Introduction

ALBERT NEWEN and RAPHAEL VAN RIEL

Part One: Language

2 Indexicality

JÉRÔME DOKIC

3 Holmes, Perry, and Reference

KEPA KORTA

4 Perry on Propositional Attitude Reports

ALBERT NEWEN

5 Situation Semantics

ISIDORA STOJANOVIC

Part Two: Persons and Their Minds

6 Perry on Self-Knowledge

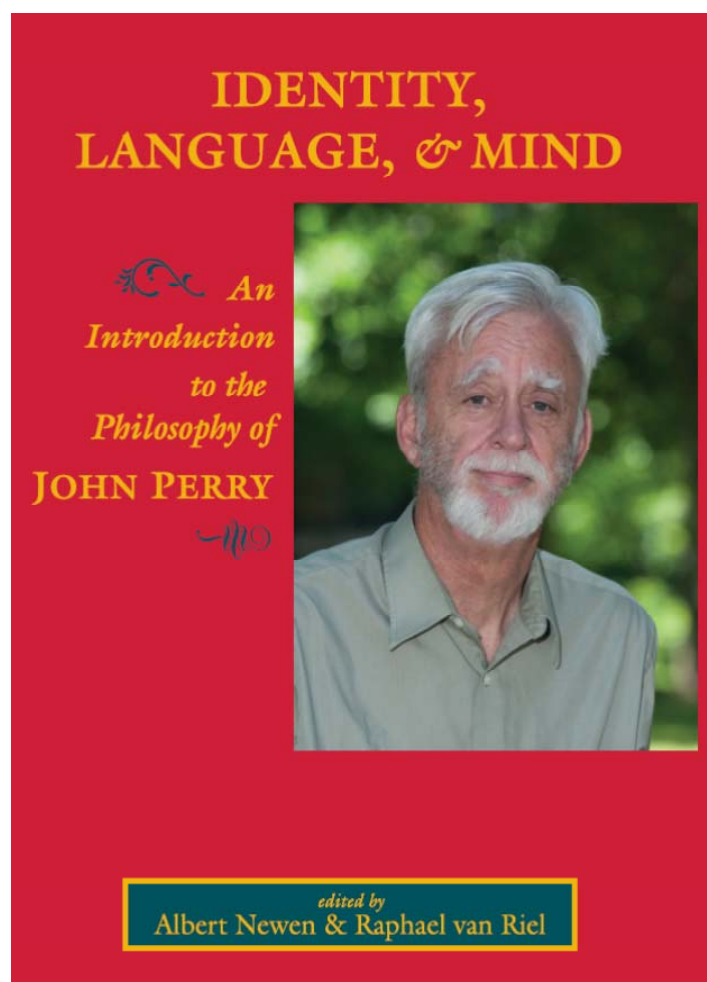

NEIL VAN LEEUWEN

7 Perry on Personal Identity

RAPHAEL VAN RIEL

8 In Defense of Antecedent Physicalism

DANIEL COHNITZ

ISBN 978-1-57586-643-7 (Paperback)

ISBN 978-1-57586-642-0 (Hardcover)

Orders in Germany, Switzerland, Austria: Please contact mentis (info@mentis.de)

Orders in all other countries: Please contact CSLI (pubs@csli.stanford.edu)

