

Zoom-Workshop
Kant and Racial Discrimination

Discussants:

Lucy Allais (Johns Hopkins University); Robert Bernasconi (Pennsylvania State University); Jasmine K. Gani (University of St Andrews); Corinna Mieth (Ruhr-University Bochum); Peter Niesen (University of Hamburg); Marcus Willaschek (Goethe University Frankfurt/M)

Thursday, February 24, 2022 (CET)

14:00: Log in and welcome

14:15–15:00 (including discussion)

Stella Sandford (Kingston University London):
'Kant and the Natural Taxonomy of "Race"'

15:00–15:45 (including discussion)

Christel Fricke (University of Oslo):
'Kant on Human Races and White Supremacy'

Break: 15 min.

16:00–16:45 (including discussion)

Ewa Wyrebska-Dermanovic (University of Bayreuth):

'Kant on Race and Colonialism. How Many Thoughts Kant Had and how it Matters in the Current Assessment of His Work?'

16:45–17:30 (including discussion)

André Grahle (LMU Munich):
'Kant and Racial Disgust'

Break: 15 min.

17:45–18:30 (including discussion)

Martin Sticker (University of Bristol):
'Kant's Ethics and (Cultural) Pluralism'

Friday, February 25, 2022 (CET)

14:00: Log in

14:15–15:00 (including discussion)

Michael Zeuske (Center for Dependency and Slavery Studies, Bonn):

'Kant/Humboldt – Cosmopolitan Scientists and Philosophers and the Problem of Racism/Anti-Racism'

15:00–15:45 (including discussion)

Elvira Basevich (University of Massachusetts):
'The Promise and Limit of a Kantian Republican Theory of Justice'

Break: 15 min

16:00–16:45 (including discussion)

Helga Varden (University of Illinois):
'A Kantian Account of Intersectionality'

16:45–17:30 (including discussion)

Jordan Pascoe (Manhattan College):
'Kant's Intersectional Argument'

Break: 15 min

17:45–18:30 (including discussion)

Reza Mosayebi (Ruhr-University Bochum):
'Kant, Kantians and Some Themes of Intersectionality'

RUHR
UNIVERSITÄT
BOCHUM

RUB

Organizer: Reza Mosayebi

Hosted by the Institute of Philosophy, Ruhr-University Bochum, Germany

Attendees are kindly asked to pre-register by 31 January 2022.

Registration (and further enquiries):

racial-discrimination@rub.de